

Black Throated Sparrow

This bird is 4 to 5 inches tall. It has a gray beak. Black on its neck. Gray body. And white over its eyes.

The nest looks like a cup filled with stems and lined with fine grasses. The black throated sparrow lives on dry hillsides and deserts.

It eats seeds, insects and fruits. It lays 3 to 4 eggs that are a pale blue color.

It makes a trilling sound. It can be found in the Western United States including Arizona. It has a medium sized slightly curved thick gray bill.

