

Pink flamingo

It is pink. The flamingo's neck is really big. Flamingos have big beaks and they have big legs.

All flamingos are found in tropical and subtropical areas. They live in big colonies for protection. Their main predator is man because destroys its habitat.

Flamingos eat algae, small insects, and small crustaceans like shrimp. Flamingos most often lay one large egg. The egg is oblong in shape, similar to that of a chicken.

They are pink because they eat shrimp.
The flamingos eye is large than its brain!!!
