

Golden eagle

The golden eagle is 33 inches tall. The golden eagle is gold. The golden eagle is big like an eagle.

by Eloy

It lives in the desert. The golden eagle builds its nest out of sticks on a cliff or in trees. The golden eagle lays 2 eggs with brown spots.

The golden eagle preys mostly upon medium – size rodents, rabbits, and hares, but also on birds, especially plump juicy birds, reptiles and carrion.

The golden eagle is the national emblem of Mexico. Some golden eagles eat tortoises. They fly with the tortoises held in their talons.

