

Butterfly

Sometimes they have orange and dots.
Sometimes they have eyes like owls.
Some are brown.

They live every where from tropical forests to open grass land to Arctic tundra.

Butterflies eat nectar from the flowers. While butterflies do not eat in the traditional serest they have a proboscis, or long tube in their mouth that acts like a straw for drinking.

First its an egg a few days later it is a caterpillar then it eats. then it goes into a chrysalis. Then it is a butterfly.

Some butterflies are 10 inches long.

