

This insect has little wings is orange and black with white spots. It is small and fragile. Its body is about 1 inch long.

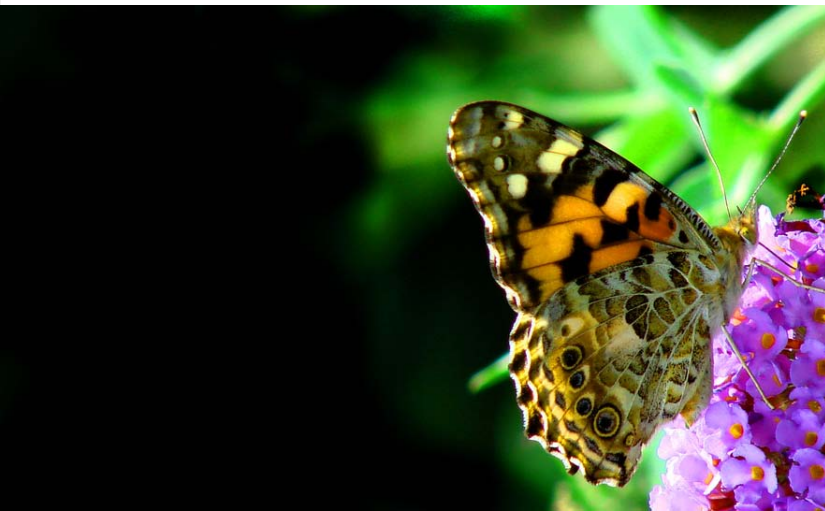

A monarch butterfly

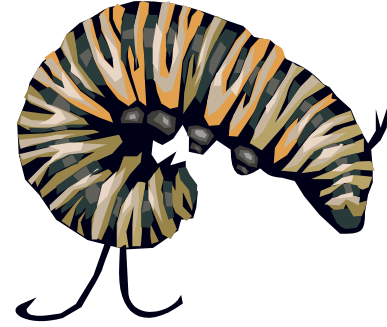

It lives in all Canada and Mexico. Also it can in live in Arizona too. Even it can live in the winter.

All caterpillars eat a lot of leaves to get bigger and bigger until it turns into a butterfly. A butterfly drink' s nectar from flowers.

First a adult lays a egg. Then the egg cracks . Once it turns into a caterpillar once it goes into a chrysalis. Then it turns into a butterfly.

Monarch butterflies fly up to 2,000 miles from north west north America to Mexico. Recent experiments shows that monarch navigates using the earth's magnetic field how cool is that.

