

Centipede

I studied the Giant Centipede and I think it is creepy. The Peruvian Giant Yellow-leg centipede is the world's largest living centipede. They are 10-12 inches long. This 46 legged monster feeds on frogs, tarantulas, birds, lizards, rodents and even bats.

The centipede has a toxic, extremely intense bite that's been likened to a gunshot wound or a broken bone. It can induce Anaphylactic Shock in humans who are bitten. These are all reasons why I think the Giant Centipede is the creepiest creature. By Nicki
