Once a upon a time there lived a puppet named Slappy, he is scary. One day he was next to my door and I saw him laying there. He was moving and talking and he said to me “get out of the house.”

slappy

I went to take him to the basement. When I walked out he came out of the basement. I kept on doing putting him back but he still came out of the basement.

Slappy was mad and he went to the park to scare some kids. One day he wasn't there. I checked the park. I checked in the whole town. Then I saw him in my room and he was sleeping.

The next day slappy was gone again and I checked everywhere and I couldn't find him at all. Then I found him In the basement and that was very very super scary.
